When Everything Feels Like

Too Much

Prompts 1-5

Some days the task is not impossible. It just feels too big, too loud, or too heavy. These prompts help you breathe, simplify, and take the next tiny step.

Prompt 01

Break This into Tiny Steps

Help me complete this without getting overwhelmed. Break [TASK] into the smallest realistic steps possible. Put them in the best order, make each step specific, and keep each one small enough that I can finish it in 5-15 minutes. Tell me only what I need to do next, then show the rest as a simple checklist.

Prompt 02

Give Me a Low-Energy Version

I need to accomplish [GOAL], but my energy is limited today. Create a low-energy version that keeps the most important outcome and removes anything optional. Show me what to do now, what can wait, what can be automated, and what I can ask someone else to help with.

Prompt 03

Make This Feel Less Complicated

This feels more complicated than it needs to be: [PASTE TASK OR SITUATION]. Simplify it for me in plain language. Remove unnecessary steps, explain the easiest workable approach, and give me a short starting point I can act on immediately.

Prompt 04

Help Me Restart Without Shame

I have been avoiding or delaying [TASK]. Help me restart from where I am now without trying to catch up perfectly. Give me one tiny action for today, one action for later, and a simple way to measure progress without creating more pressure.

Prompt 05

Turn the Goal into 3 Steps

My goal is [GOAL]. Reduce it to three stages only: START, BUILD, FINISH. Under each stage, give me the minimum actions required to move forward. Keep the plan practical for someone with limited time, energy, mobility, or attention.

Next Steps:

- ☐ Breathe
- ☐ Choose one thing
- ☐ Take a small step
- ☐ Keep going
- ☐ Proud of you! ♥

Find an Easier Route

Prompts 6-10

If the usual method keeps draining you,
the answer may not be more force.
It may be a better route.

Prompt 06

Tell Me the Very Next Action

I am stuck because I do not know what to do next with [PROJECT]. Based on this situation: [CONTEXT], tell me the single best next action. Explain why it matters in one sentence, then give me the next two actions only after that.

Prompt 07

Create a Checklist I Can Actually Finish

Turn [TASK] into a short checklist. Separate it into MUST DO, HELPFUL, and OPTIONAL. Keep MUST DO as short as possible. Rewrite every item as a clear action that begins with a verb.

Prompt 08

Show Me What "Done Enough" Looks Like

I am overthinking [TASK]. Define a realistic "done enough" version that achieves the purpose without perfection. Tell me the minimum quality standard, what I can safely leave out, and how I will know when to stop.

Prompt 09

Find Three Easier Ways

I need to achieve [GOAL], but my current method is too difficult because of [LIMITATION/OBSTACLE]. Give me three alternative routes to the same outcome. Rank them by lowest effort, lowest cost, and fastest to implement.

Prompt 10

Create an Accessible Alternative

Create an accessible alternative for [TASK] based on these limitations or constraints: [LIMITATIONS]. Preserve the goal, but change the method. Suggest adaptations, tools, shortcuts, assistance, and environmental changes that could make the task more workable.

Prompt 11

Redesign the Process Around My Limits

Here is the process I am trying to follow: [PASTE PROCESS]. Redesign it around my actual capacity. Identify the steps creating the most strain, then replace them with simpler, slower, assisted, automated, or delegated options.

Prompt 12

Give Me the Winding Green Route

Imagine my goal is the destination and my current approach is a straight route crashing through obstacles. My goal is [GOAL] and my obstacles are [OBSTACLES]. Map a smarter "green route" that goes around the obstacles while still reaching the same destination.

Prompt 13

What Parts Can AI Handle?

Review this task: [TASK]. Separate it into three columns: HUMAN SHOULD DO, AI CAN HELP, and AI CAN DRAFT/ORGANIZE. Keep human judgment, values, decisions, and relationships with me. Use AI only to reduce repetitive thinking, typing, organizing, or first-draft work.

Prompt 14

Do the First Draft for Me

I know what I want to accomplish, but I am stuck starting. Create a strong first draft of [EMAIL/POST/PLAN/DOCUMENT] using this information: [DETAILS]. Keep placeholders where I need to add personal facts, decisions, or final approval.

Prompt 15

Turn My Messy Thoughts into Structure

I am going to give you rough thoughts, fragments, and ideas. Do not change my meaning. Organize them into a clear structure with headings, priorities, and next actions. Here are my notes: [PASTE NOTES].

Prompt 16

Reduce Typing and Decision Fatigue

I need help finishing [TASK] with as little typing and decision-making as possible. Ask me no more than three essential questions, preferably multiple-choice. Then produce the most complete usable version you can from my answers.

Prompt 17

Plan Around My Energy Window

I have about [TIME] of usable energy for [TASK]. Build a plan that fits inside that window. Put the highest-value action first, include short rest points, and stop before the plan becomes unrealistic.

Prompt 18

Create Seated, Remote, or Voice-First Options

I need to do [TASK], but I need options that can be done seated, remotely, or with minimal physical movement. Give me practical alternatives and include voice-input or hands-free methods where appropriate.

Prompt 19

Make This Easier on a Hard Day

Create a "hard day" version of [TASK]. Assume my energy, focus, mobility, or speech may be reduced. Preserve only the essential outcome and give me the gentlest realistic way to complete it.

Prompt 20

Build a Backup Plan Before I Need It

For [TASK/ROUTINE], create Plan A, Plan B, and Plan C. Plan A is the normal approach. Plan B is for reduced energy or access. Plan C is the minimum viable version for a very difficult day. All three should still move me forward.

Prompt 21

"Say This More Clearly for Me"

Rewrite this so it sounds clear, warm, confident, and easy to understand without changing my meaning: [PASTE TEXT]. Keep my voice natural and remove unnecessary words or confusing phrasing.

Prompt 22

"Turn This into a Message I Can Send"

I need to communicate this: [DETAILS]. Write a ready-to-send message for [PERSON/AUDIENCE]. Make it respectful, direct, and concise. Include a clear ask or next step at the end.

Prompt 23

"Help Me Explain What I Need"

I need to ask for help with [SITUATION], but I do not know how to explain it. Write a short message that states what I am trying to do, what is difficult, exactly what help would make a difference, and that I appreciate their time without sounding apologetic.

Prompt 24

"Give Me Three Tone Options"

Rewrite this message in three versions:
1) warm and friendly,
2) concise and professional,
3) encouraging and personal.
Keep the facts the same: [PASTE MESSAGE].

Prompt 25

"Help Me Choose Without Overthinking"

I am deciding between [OPTION A] and [OPTION B]. Compare them based on my real priorities: [PRIORITIES]. Show tradeoffs, what matters most, and recommend the option that best fits my constraints. Keep the reasoning practical, not abstract.

Prompt 26

Tell Me What Actually Matters Here

"Here is everything competing for my attention: [LIST]. Sort it into NOW, NEXT, LATER, and NOT NECESSARY. Explain the top three priorities in one sentence each."

Prompt 27

Find the Bottleneck

"My goal is [GOAL], but progress keeps slowing down. Based on this context: [CONTEXT], identify the likely bottleneck. Then give me the smallest intervention that could improve the whole process."

Prompt 28

Challenge My Current Approach

"I am currently trying to solve [PROBLEM] this way: [APPROACH]. Point out where I may be making it harder than necessary. Suggest a simpler route, one assumption to question, and one experiment I can try before making a major change."

Prompt 29

Tell Me What I Should Delegate

"Review everything involved in [PROJECT/TASK]. Identify what truly requires me and what could be delegated to another person, service, automation, or AI. Prioritize the items that would save me the most energy."

Prompt 30

Write the Help Request

"I need someone to help me with [TASK]. Write a respectful request that is specific about what I need, how long it may take, any deadline, and what a successful result looks like. Keep it easy for the other person to say yes or no."

Prompt 31

Turn Vague Support into Specific Support

People have told me
"let me know if you need anything." My situation is [SITUATION].
Give me five specific,
reasonable things I could ask for that would meaningfully reduce my workload or stress."

Prompt 32

Help Me Return the Kindness

Someone helped me
with [HELP RECEIVED].
Give me thoughtful ways
I can thank them or support them in return
that do not require a lot of energy, money, or mobility. Focus on genuine encouragement, appreciation, and using the abilities I do have.

Prompt 33

Give Me 10 Possible Approaches

I am stuck on [PROBLEM]. Generate 10 genuinely different approaches, including simple, unconventional, low-cost, assisted,
automated, and creative options. Do not assume the usual method is the only valid one.

Prompt 34

Turn the Limitation into a Design Constraint

My constraint is [LIMITATION]. Instead of treating it only as a problem, use it as a design constraint. Show how it could lead to a simpler process, clearer offer, more accessible solution, stronger message, or more creative result.

Prompt 35

Create the Simplest Prototype

I want to test [IDEA] without building the full version. Design the smallest prototype I can create in [TIME/BUDGET].
Tell me exactly what to include, what to leave out, and what feedback to collect.
